Principal photography is due to begin October 19 in Oklahoma City with a planned fall 2027 U.S. theatrical release. Miracle Studios and Brookwell McNamara Entertainment are getting behind the release.

The synopsis reads: "Wisener plays the lead role of Ryleigh Thompson, a seasoned journalist whose career has taken her to war zones but her greatest battle is at home. Haunted by the death of a soldier who once loved her and is estranged from her husband Ben (Jonathan Stoddard), she is assigned to cover a miracle in Argentina. What begins as a routine expose on religious superstition transforms into an emotional odyssey forcing Ryleigh to face her fears, her faith and her fractured marriage. As she follows the story, based on true events, she must decide whether to expose the miracle-or embrace it."

The film was created by Pittsburgh, PA-based co-writers Jen Katzfey, a producer at Hawk Hill Pictures, and writing partner Dana Faletti.

Pic is executive produced by Morales, Grammer, Joe Helow, Early Bird Pictures' Stephanie Dunn and Alex Katz, Steve Maddox (Twisters) and Alexis Walkenstein (Unplanned). "Growing up Catholic, my faith has always influenced the stories I'm drawn to tell," said McNamara. "I've waited my entire career for a film like His Heart, one that reminds audiences that miracles still happen and that hope can be found even in life's darkest moments."

He added: "This is more than a movie; it's an opportunity to share a powerful message of faith, compassion, and God's enduring presence. My hope is that audiences leave inspired, believing that miracles are still possible and that love has the power to transform lives."

Morales is repped by Innovative Artists. Grammer is repped by UTA and Vault Entertainment.
