Where Was Soul Surfer Filmed?

Soul Surfer is a heartwarming film about teen surfer Bethany Hamilton, who lost her arm in a shark attack but overcame all odds to become one of the most successful surfers in the world. If you're a fan of the movie, you might be wondering where it was filmed. Wonder no more! In this blog post, we will take you on a tour of the filming locations for Soul Surfer. So grab your swimsuit and sunscreen, and let's get started!

Soul Surfer is a 2011 biopic by Sean McNamara based upon a 2004 book penned by Bethany Hamilton titled "Soul Surfer: A True Story of Faith, Family, and Fighting to Get Back on the Board”. And it tells the true story of a girl that lost an arm surfing on the beaches to a shark and how she managed to bounce back from that dramatic episode. Now, without any further ado, let’s begin covering this episode.

AnnaSophia Robb plays Bethany Hamilton in Soul Surfer

Firstly, Soul Surfer was filmed in its entirety in the state of Hawaii, the only state outside North America, an archipelago of islands located over 2000 miles from the mainland. It’s a great tourist location. With its 137 volcanic islands, the state was the birthplace of Barack Obama and former presidential candidate and congresswoman Tulsi Gabbard. Let’s take a closer look at the filming locations for this movie.

Kauai, Hawaii

The first stop on our tour is in Kauai, Hawaii. To begin, Kauai was the primary filming location for Soul Surfer, and it’s where you’ll find some of the most beautiful beaches in the world. All you need to do is check out some of the images, and you’ll see why these beautiful beaches in the Pacific have that fame! Many of the surfing scenes were filmed on Kauai’s famous North Shore, where Bethany Hamilton learned to surf as a child. You might recognize some of the other popular surfing spots on Kauai, such as Hanalei Bay and Tunnels Beach.
